Iveta combines listening skills and the ability to summarize your best qualities as a professional. With the attention constantly devoted to your expectations and needs - she helps you defining the distinctive characteristics you can leverage to achieve your career goals.

She is sensitive and pragmatic at the same time, and her firmness can help - also in situations of strong disorientation - regaining your self-confidence and establishing a solid foundation on which you can start (or resume) your career path. On a route which really fits you.

Thanks for the journey!
